

All About Unembossed MasterCard® Cards

MasterCard cards are accepted at millions of merchants worldwide. This card may look a little different, but it's just as easy to make purchases using an unembossed MasterCard card. The card is like other MasterCard cards with one difference: the card is "flat," as all account information is printed rather than embossed with raised letters and numbers. All other features and benefits that you may be familiar with from traditional cards remain the same.

How it works:

	1 The new card is flat, with no raised letters or numbers for account information such as cardholder name, account number, and expiration date.
	2 Present your unembossed MasterCard card for payment.
	3 The transaction is processed using the merchant's terminal.
	4 You sign the receipt or enter your PIN if required.
	5 Take back the card along with your receipt and the transaction is complete!

Where to use the card:

Just like an embossed MasterCard card, the unembossed card is accepted at any merchant that takes MasterCard and is equipped with an electronic terminal. At those few merchants who do not yet have terminals, the unembossed card might not be accepted.

Unembossed cards are also accepted online and over the phone, like all MasterCard cards.
